VISION AND HEARING

These are two of your most important senses, providing you with a three dimensional experience in life. Both are fundamental to your ability to remain active, engaged and functional. Loss of vision or hearing negatively affects quality of life. These precious senses are vital to effectively connect with people and surroundings. Hearing is the most common undiagnosed and untreated problem within our patient population. At age 65, about one out of three people has hearing loss according to The Hearing Loss Association of America. Hearing loss can change your personality and affect your relationships because while vision loss affects only you, hearing loss affects everyone around you. It becomes exhausting to try to hear and follow conversations and it is equally frustrating for everyone else around.

EYES AND EARS, WE TREAT BOTH

For over 15 years in the Low Country, patients have trusted the eye doctors at SunGate Medical Group with their vision needs. We believe SunGate Medical Group is your gateway to wellness, offering a selection of high-quality healthcare services, specifically chosen by Dr. Kenneth Farr to provide you with one-stop convenience in our attentive, patient-focused atmosphere. Scientific research has shown a relationship between certain systemic and ophthalmic diseases (diabetes and glaucoma) to hearing deficit. For this reason, we now routinely check all of our patients for indications of hearing loss without any added cost to you. You can also call anytime, whether you've had an eye exam with our doctors or not, to schedule a free hearing screening or a comprehensive hearing evaluation with our audiologist, Lisa A. Crouch, who brings over 25 years of clinical experience, including hearing aid dispensing. Our goal is to provide you with a personalized and affordable hearing solution that fits your lifestyle and expectations.
